Take a journey into the world of bread

Hundreds of art and cultural objects from 9,000 years tell their stories about this precious food. Marvel at Egyptian corn mummies, Peruvian totem poles and guild goblets as well as a bouquet of wheat sheaves by Coco Chanel and artworks made of gingerbread by Roy Lichtenstein. After the tour in the PANEUM, visitors will surely regard bread with very different eyes.

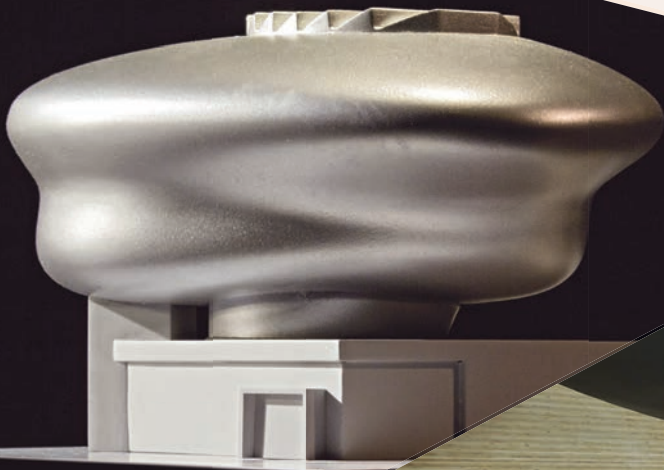

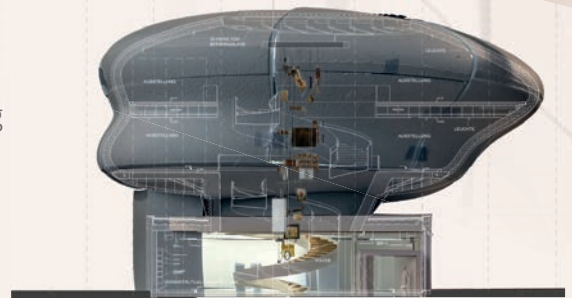

Duration of tour: approx. 60 minutes
7,50 € per Person

ARCHITECTURAL TOUR

Experience an architectural gem – made in Austria!

The PANEUM bears the signature of Prof. Wolf D. Prix, CEO of COOP HIMMELB(L)AU, one of the most renowned architecture firms in the world. The self-supporting “cloud ship” is perched upon the concrete base, inviting the viewer to reflect. The distinctive, organic shape is visible from afar and is home to the extensive backdrin art and culture collection. The free-form construction is made almost entirely of Austrian wood, which makes the PANEUM not only one of the most sustainable, but above all one of the most innovative buildings in the world. Experience more fascinating details about the award-winning architecture and get a look at the remarkable collection on this exclusive tour.

After the tour in the PANEUM, visitors will surely regard bread with very different eyes.

SCHOOLS AND AFTER-SCHOOL CARE

Children and young people learn in educational programmes specially developed for them - interdisciplinary, age-appropriate and easy to understand - how important bread was and is in the history of mankind. Art and cultural objects from 9,000 years tell history and stories. The setting is provided by a fascinating building that will amaze even the youngest. Why did people need a corn sickle? What's behind corn mummies? What do shame masks have to do with bakery? How was bread stored and protected in the past? Schoolchildren can find out answers to these questions and much more on a guided tour of the PANEUM.
